

AGI Residential/Daily Living Support Course ONLINE

Top experts share practices for parents and direct support providers

This expert-led, interactive course provides comprehensive training on evidence-based strategies for supporting individuals with ASD in adulthood. The new curriculum offered through online learning provider The Houlton Institute was developed by the Autistic Global Initiative (AGI), an organization focused on finding solutions for adults with autism, with funding provided by a grant from Autism Speaks. The curriculum brings together a wealth of expertise and practical advice in 12 weekly sessions.

Currently in the United States, there are 1.5 million individuals with autism spectrum conditions, 80% of whom are under the age of 22. As these young people with autism age into adulthood, existing programs and services will be overwhelmed. Families, professionals, and people with autism face significant challenges in the upcoming decade as our community anticipates an exponential rise in the need for adult programs, living options, and employment across the spectrum.

Topics include:

- Person-Centered Approach to Supporting Adults
- Understanding and Supporting Regulation
- Safety & Self-Care Strategies
- Supporting Communication for Adults with Autism
- Learning and Implementing Evidence-Based Practices in Residential Settings
- Identifying and Implementing Training Needs and Supports for Individuals
- Citizenship/Community Life
- Supporting Transition

Continuing Education Units (CEU) through Oregon State University are available for a $45 fee.
